HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

(DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.)

EASTERN DATES TO DECEMBER 16.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. In the House bills were introduced giving the consent of Congress to the erection of a crib on Lake Erie, by the city of Cleveland, Ohio, for the protection and inlet for a water works tunnel about to be constructed by that city, and for the improvement of the harbor of Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Resolutions were adopted instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire whether any legislation is necessary to provide for the determination of any contest that may arise in the Electoral College.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Senator Wilson offered a resolution, which was adopted, for information from the Judiciary Committee as to whether further Legislation is necessary for the protection of public meetings in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Bowman offered a resolution requesting the Attorney General to inform the Senate whether any arrangement, to which he is a party, exists whereby Yerger of Mississippi will be discharged or turned over to the civil authorities, in case Congress by any legislation takes away or restricts the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to determine proceedings before said Court for the discharge of said Yerger. Mr. Sumner objected, and the resolution went over under the rules.

Mr. Cragin introduced a resolution to close the accounts of the late Secretary of the Senate—Forney. Mr. Cameron said he was satisfied that Forney's accounts were correct. Although he suffered from the misappropriating of money by his confidential officer, the Government would not lose a cent. A statement of the First Comptroller, who examined his accounts, says they have been fairly adjusted. The joint resolution was passed.

The Senate then took up the bill to perfect reconstruction in Georgia. Mr. Morton's amendment was read. It provides that the Legislature shall be provisional until it ratifies the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments and the State is represented in Congress. Mr. Carpenter thought the amendment unnecessary and pernicious, and might give the Southern people reason to say that while they were in a condition of duress, terms of admission were dictated by Congress. He did not want a future Jefferson Davis to bring in a bill of exceptions and move a new trial. Mr. Drake said rebel Southerners should be made to feel the power of Congress, which could not be strangled by the Supreme Court or any other State authority. Mr. Morton spoke in favor of the bill.

At the expiration of the morning hour, the unfinished business being the bill relating to the appelate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, it was taken up. Trumbull made a speech in support of the bill. He said he fully recognized the necessity for a division of the powers of the Government, believing that the concentrating of all the powers in the hands of a few tended to war and despotism and that the liberties of the people could only be maintained by the fullest regard for the rights and powers of the different departments of the General Government and of the States. While yielding all just respect to the Judiciary, the object was simply to define by this bill the powers of that Department. This definition would not exceed, by one step, the limit of which the Supreme Court had already laid down. The bill had not been framed with any view of interfering with any question now pending. Trumbull submitted an amendment, restricting the powers of the Supreme Court in issuing writs of habeas corpus to persons within their respective Districts. Without further action the Georgia bill was again taken up, when Mr. Carpenter submitted a few more remarks. Thurman spoke at length against the bill. Discussion was continued by Bayard in opposition and Williams and Edmunds in favor of the proposition. Mr. Sumner introduced an amendment providing that the acts of the several Departments shall not be called in question by other Departments, and fixing the limits of judicial power. Referred to the committee on Judiciary.

In the House several bills were introduced and referred.

A letter from the Secretary of the Navy was presented, asking authority to enlist 1,500 men for the Navy in addition to the 8,000 now allowed. Referred to the committee on Naval Affairs.

Allison introduced a bill to fix the number of representatives and provide for apportionment among the several States. Referred to the committee on Census.

The Speaker announced the assignment of the new members to committees. He also presented a message from the President in response to the House resolution calling for the correspondence with the American Minister at Madrid on the subject of Cuba. The Secretary of State says: It is not deemed desirable at the present to comply with the request.

Dawes offered a resolution calling on the Postmaster General for information as to whether any person holding a United States office had been employed by that department to treat with foreign nations with regard to postal matters. The resolution was adopted.

The House went into the Committee of the Whole on the President's Message. Munger spoke criticising the financial policy of the Government, and advocating repudiation. Brooks disclaimed all responsibility for his advocacy of repudiation. Speaking for the Democratic members from New York, he said the debt never would be repudiated. Kerr also repudiated the sentiment of Munger and said the Democratic party is not in favor of repudiation. Slocum and Randall emphatically opposed repudiation, and protested against the enunciation of such doctrines on the floor of Congress. During the discussion the Republican members gathered around the Speaker's stand evincing intense interest. Garfield, at the close of the discussion, by unanimous consent, moved that the committee report to the House a resolution that the proposition direct or indirect to repudiate any portion of the debt of the United States, is unworthy the honor and good name of the nation, and that the House without distinction of party hereby sets its seal of condemnation on any and all such propositions. The committee thereupon rose, and the chairman reported the resolution to the House. Garfield moved the previous question, which was seconded, and the yeas and nays were ordered. Jones, of Kentucky, moved to table the resolution. A vote was taken by division, and the motion lost with only one affirmative vote, that of Jones himself. Brooks suggested a postponement of the vote on the resolution until the next meeting, as many members were absent. Schofield, with this object in view, moved an adjournment, which was lost, and a vote taken, resulting as follows: Yeas, 23, noes, 1. Jones was allowed to explain his position. He said he was not now in favor of repudiation and never would be. He would be in a certain contingency, if the alternative was ever presented him whether to vote that the part of the bonded debt specified to be paid in gold should be paid in gold or that there should be repudiation; to that extent he would go for repudiation.

A message from the President was received announcing the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment by the State of Alabama, and the House then adjourned until Monday.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Legal proceedings against the Erie Company for overcharges on express freights have been commenced in New Jersey for the recovery of $50,000, the aggregate damages.

Among the suspensions announced yesterday, was that of E. Edgerton & Co., probably the largest importers of foreign caskets. This firm suspended on Monday, and yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, to Albert P. Edgerton of Fort Wayne, Indiana. They hope to be able to meet all liabilities. An inventory of their stock is now being taken. Besides that in the store, the firm have a large amount of goods not taken out of bond.

The Spanish flotilla expected to leave to-day. A plot for the destruction of the gunboats by torpedoes has been frustrated by this sudden removal to the anchorage in the stream. It is reported that attempts will be made by the Cubans to burn some of the vessels before their departure.

Gen. Butler has a long reply to Greeley's article, calling on him to take prompt action in the removal of disabilities of late rebels. Butler says Southern leaders who misled their communities and brought war with all its attendant evils upon the country, should be punished as examples to deter others in like cases from offending. I think, he says, had an example been made of some half dozen leaders of the South, especially those who were educated at the military school of the United States and were trusted with commands in our armies and resigned their trust to take command in the armies of the rebellion and those who being intrusted with places in Congress or the Cabinet and used those places to hatch treason, foment insurrection and maintain rebellion to destroy the government, ought to have been signally punished, and that if that punishment had been awarded which other Governments have meted out at this day, all matters in the rebel States which now disturb the public peace, would have been settled; that quiet, commercial prosperity, agricultural industry, emigration, labor and capital would feel a revivification, and every beneficent enterprise would fill the Southern country, and every insurgent State would long ere this have been remoulded into the Union. All that remains now to statesmen is to see that every safeguard be given to loyal and true men of the South, white and black, who stood by the country in that darkest hour of its history, and that protection of person and property and political rights be guarded. Therefore, in any action I may take in Congress or elsewhere, I shall have this end only in view—the adoption and enforcement of the Fifteenth Amendment. I will use all efforts for the passage of laws to secure the latter; this not for political purposes, but for the substantial benefit of the South.

Kentucky Senatorial Contest.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 16.—The following is the result of the ballot for United States Senator: Stevenson, Dem., 117; Finley, Rep., 10; Spaulding, 5; John C. Breckinridge, 1. Necessary for a choice, 67. Stevenson was therefore declared Senator elect.

Nitro-Glycerine Explosion

TITUSVILLE, Dec. 16.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon, a magazine containing half a ton of nitro-glycerine, owned by the Roberts Torpedo company, exploded, causing much damage to buildings throughout the city, and instantly killing H. R. Brophy, the only man known to have been near the magazine, which was about a mile from the city.

Accident and Lives Lost.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 16.—A boat containing thirteen workmen who had been engaged in putting up the framework of the new drawbridge of the New Jersey railroad over the Passaic river, capsized and four men and one boy were drowned. The bodies have been recovered.

Failures in Business.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The Express announces the failure of a number of merchants to-day, in a small way. A number of failures in other cities are announced, including Levi Strauss, of San Francisco. The Post reports the failure of the extensive dry goods house of Howard, Cole & Co., of Baltimore. Liabilities reported at $700,000.

Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The President sent to the Senate the following nominations to-day: I. Wilson Shaffer, of Illinois, Governor of Utah, vice Durkee; Benjamin F. Potts, of Illinois, Governor of Montana, vice Ashley.

Another Assassination.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Dec. 16.—Dr. Oliver, an Englishman of prominence, shot and killed to-day George Ayers, of Farquer, who charged him with seducing his daughter while visiting his house some months ago.

The Conflict of Authority in Iowa.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—A railroad bond convention, composed of delegates from counties having bonded indebtedness, was held at Muscatine, Iowa, yesterday. About 70 delegates were present. J. B. Grinnell was made permanent President, who said he considered it an honor to preside over the so-called rebels of Iowa, who were assembled to show that they were not rebels, but merely standing up for their rights. He cautioned moderation and calmness, reminding the convention that it was on dangerous ground and could be regarded as an imprudent body. He wished to be understood that he was not repudiating, but would accept nothing less. He rested the case with the courts of his own State, and he did not propose to submit to wrong imposed by men in gowns in Washington, who have been making laws as well as trampling on them. Let us be sure that we are right, and then go slowly but firmly. After full discussion, resolutions were adopted declaring the recent decision of the Federal courts involving corporations' railroad bonds in their stock, as it seems to us, subversive of the authority and dignity of the State courts and dangerous to the rights and privileges of citizens of this State. Respectfully protesting against the exercise of such authority by the Federal courts and pledging sympathy and support to the State courts in the maintenance of their rightful authority, calling on the General Assembly to apply to Congress to protect citizens against similar encroachments on their rights; declaring the provision commonly known as the "dead amendment," asserting the right of the State to control certain railroad companies regarding freight and passenger charges, a precious and valuable right which ought to be preserved unimpaired; declaring that the property of railroads ought to be taxed the same as other property; urging the General Assembly to provide by law for equal taxation, recommending to cities and counties interested in the railroad bond question to pay all taxes except the railroad bond tax, and to refuse to pay this until all legal practical remedies are exhausted. Harmony and unity of action are recommended, and each county is authorized to keep competent agents at Des Moines during the session of the Legislature to furnish information to members and attend to the interests of the respective counties on the question. The total amount of bonded indebtedness in dispute is about ten millions.

The Oregon Herald.

SATURDAY MORNING DECEMBER 18, 1869

Value of Lands

In most parts of Oregon the actual value of land has undoubtedly increased greatly during the last two years, and this is especially true in several counties in the Wallamet valley. But the assessed value of these lands is little or no greater than it was several years ago. Such, at least, is the inference we draw from the fact that in many counties the aggregate value of property for several years has shown little increase. Most of the towns, however, show gains in the value of real estate, and this is especially true of Portland and Salem. But the towns are not growing faster than the country, and the seeming disparity arises, we think, mainly from inequality of assessments. This course renders the burden of State taxation unequal, and if it grows into a serious matter, as it is likely to do, it will necessitate the appointment of a board of equalization to bring about an adjustment. Most of the States have adopted this method of adjusting such inequalities.

In the agricultural parts of the State lands are certain to be greatly enhanced in value within the next few years. The upward movement, which is just beginning to be felt, will ere long become more rapid and general. Situated as Oregon is on the direct line which commerce will [illegible] between the Eastern portions of our country and the populous regions beyond the Pacific, there must be at no very distant [illegible] a large population within the boundaries of this State. Production will be stimulated to the utmost possible extent, and every spot of land that can be made fruitful will be brought under culture. Population in the United States increases faster than in any other country in the world, being doubled every twenty-five years. Immigrants from Europe, most of whom desire to attach themselves [illegible] to the soil, never came over so fast as now. Foreigners who bring over their families are generally desirous of becoming owners of land and seek to establish themselves in comfortable, though laborious independence. In the great Mississippi valley there is little land of any description which remains to be appropriated. Those who are seeking places for settlement must look further west. It is true that land is comparatively cheap in many parts of the country, but, low as it is offered, it is often beyond the means of the landless to make purchases. In a few years the last remaining portions of the public domain that are fit for cultivation will be taken up; and after that, with population rapidly crowding upon us, lands must necessarily rise in value throughout the whole country. It is true that the Interior Department reports many millions of acres of unoccupied lands, but a very large portion of these will forever be unfit for occupancy. With the exception of the small valleys, which do not comprise one-fifth of the area, the Territories east of us are of little value for agricultural purposes. [illegible] the sources of the Columbia and Missouri [illegible], but these are rapidly filling up with population. In Oregon there are many rich valleys of small extent yet unoccupied, but their aggregate area will be but a very small proportion to the total area of public lands which the State contains. It is still comparatively easy to secure good lands by [illegible] but henceforward it will [illegible] more difficult. Now, therefore, is evidently the time for all who desire to secure land in good localities, and who have the means of securing it, to do it. There are opportunities now which will not occur again.

[illegible] and the Great Railways

The New York Herald makes the Erie Railroad case the basis of the following suggestions:

We ought [illegible] suggestion in regard to the [illegible] from the fact of their growth. They are no longer confined within State lines, and as they have expanded beyond State limits, they must be made subject to other than State [illegible]. When a railroad connected New York and Albany, or New York and Buffalo, and had its whole life in the State, it was proper enough that our local laws should be supreme in regard to it, but when such connect New York and Chicago, New York and San Francisco, or Chicago and New Orleans, it is evident that they have passed into another sphere of legal influence. They are then the instruments of that commerce [illegible] the States which it is the special duty of Congress to regulate, and Congress is delinquent in its duties to the people if it fails to recognize this fact and act upon it.

The popular judgment is rapidly growing in this direction. The internal commerce of the country has become so seriously affected by the [illegible] policy of railroads, that State power is insufficient to protect the public. In fact generally it is the case that State Legislatures are but the adjuncts to the great monopolies, to all intents and purposes as much so as the rolling stock of the [illegible]. Do the monopolies require a law authorizing the watering of stock? It is obtained for the asking. Do the party in possession require a law confirming them in power indefinitely? It is "whirled through" in the space of thirty minutes. Is legislation needed to head off a rival? Nothing is more easy. Does it become necessary to circumvent the public and kill off competition? The Legislature is obedient. Hence we see Legislatures "run" as the machine shops or trains are run in the interest of the managers of the great lines. These are the observations of the Pittsburg Commercial, and they are fortified abundantly by experience in Pennsylvania as well as in New York. Such a view explains the nature of recent debates in Congress on this subject, and shows what members mean when they say that "the next great battle is to be fought with the railroads."

In General

The article we published a few days ago relative to the conflict in Iowa between State and National authority, growing out of an attempt of several counties in that State to repudiate railroad obligations which they had incurred, will render intelligible the telegrams of to-day which report the proceedings of a Convention of the repudiators who propose to continue the contest, if possible. The State Courts had dropped the matter, having yielded to the superior authority of the Courts of the United States, but now it is proposed to take the matter to the Legislature as a further method of resisting the payment of the bonds. The State Legislature, if it is wise, will not interfere. They who owe this money on obligations that were freely incurred by themselves have nothing to gain by continuing the controversy.

It is quite amusing to read of the sensation which was produced among the Democratic members of Congress a couple of days ago by the indiscreet utterances of one of their number touching the repudiation of the national debt. Mungen, the member who started the excitement, represents the Fifth District of Ohio, and is an ardent disciple of the Pendleton school of financiers. A Kentucky member came to his aid, but Brooks, Slocum and other Democratic members in the bondholding interest took the alarm, protested against such sentiments and allowed the leaders of the party to be overborne. And thus the true Democratic faith, as understood by the party in Oregon, was [illegible] and crushed to earth. Why didn't Hon. Joseph Smith stand up for the position which he knows is endorsed by a majority of his party in Oregon.

Speaking of the reduction of the public debt, the Chicago [illegible] says: "By the 4th of March next General Grant will be able to shake in the face of Copperheads and repudiators $115,000,000 of purchased and cancelled bonds. The money for the purchase of this immense amount of bonds would have been stolen by Johnson's Democratic [illegible] if his administration had been prolonged until then. In other words, General Grant's administration has stopped the heating and stealing of the revenue practised by the preceding one, equal to the monthly payments on the debt. This is what the country gained by defeating the candidate of Tammany Hall and electing the blunt and honest Republican soldier. If he keeps on with the same vigor smoking out Johnson's thieves, prosecuting them, recovering what they stole, and stopping up all the leaks in the Treasury, and collecting all the tolls due the Government, the people will feel sorely tempted to employ him four years longer to attend to their business."

Many Eastern journals are disposed to take a very hopeful view of the prospect of effecting a return to specie transactions without a collapse of business. The New York Mail puts it in this way: "After going through so long a range of the financial gamut, both ways, will a great, stalwart, courageous, inventive, energetic nation get out of wind in the descent of a few lower notes? Will the people whose business has never slackened and whose growth has never ceased, while all values have been deranged for over seven years, grow faint and cowardly and helpless just as they are in near reach of the old and normal state of affairs? We have grown and prospered with gold at 10, 20, 30, 40, 100, 150, 160, 185 per cent premium. Every step of the ascent of values has found us ready and equal to the emergency. Every step of the descent of values has found us equally quick to adjust ourselves to it. After all these disturbances, fluctuations and perils, will the trifling descent of twenty per cent find us stiff, infirm, demoralized, unadjustable and nerveless?"

MISCELLANEOUS

The Methodist Almanac reports 9 Bishops, 18,371 preachers, 11,692 churches, and 1,255,115 lay members.

Perhaps it is an old, but it certainly is a felicitous, saying of Josh Billings, that "one single hornet who feels well will break up a large camp meeting."

An Indianapolis financier proposes to extinguish the public debt by substituting treasury notes for bonds, and keeping them in circulation till they wear out.

A charming girl of Boston is about establishing a female barber shop. Ten sylphs are being put through the tuitionary course of lather for the opening. A sweet shave will cost twenty-five cents; and a seraphic shampoo half a dollar.

A newspaper in Des Moines, Iowa, announces that "the first Chinaman" has appeared in the streets of that place, whereat the Chicago Times thinks that, since China is the oldest nation on the face of the earth, Des Moines may fairly claim the "oldest inhabitant," and no mistake.

The Washington Star reports that Mary Harris, who shot Adoniram J. Burroughs, a clerk in the Treasury Department, has been discharged from the Insane Asylum cured, and is now engaged in the Philadelphia postoffice. She "mental aberrated" just long enough to escape the punishment she otherwise would have received.

A Northern school teacher in Virginia who undertook to chastise a colored young woman, one of his pupils, because she refused to bring in coal, found his match in her and her sister. They beat him unmercifully and he then said: "Now, let us all be silent about this matter, for if you were to tell it, it might be injurious to your characters."

An enterprising Californian calls on Congress to appropriate $20,000,000 a year for five years for the employment of suitable steam vessels, which shall furnish free passage to any person in Europe who may wish to make their homes in this country. And then let Congress make similar provisions for Americans desiring to visit Europe on pleasure trips, and give each party a life insurance policy, and perhaps that will satisfy somebody.

An enthusiastic writer considers the discoveries of Livingstone the great event of the time. Think, he says, of the grand opening for future civilization in the interior of Africa, where all the products of the earth can be raised easier and cheaper than they can be here, and where civilization will come as it did to America—reclaiming a continent from a world of waters and the ages of darkness. There is yet a glory left to be won by coming generations!

The new and cheap evening papers at New York—Mail, Telegram, News Press, Republic and Commonwealth—are running out the old Express, Advertiser and Evening Post. Bennett is credited with fostering certain of these enterprises, viz: The Telegram against the field, the Mail against the Evening Post, the Republic against the Commercial Advertiser, and the Press against the Express. The News, by Ben Wood, prints 80,000 to 100,000 copies; the Telegram about 30,000.

The project of annexing St Domingo renders any information concerning it specially interesting at this time. The island is about four hundred miles long by one hundred and sixty miles broad, and contains a population of 700,000 people. It is thirteen hundred miles from New York, five hundred from Florida, and about four hundred from the South American mainland. St Domingo is at once the first, the richest and the healthiest of the West India Islands. The Dominican language is said to be a compound of Spanish, French, English and Congo, with the Spanish prevailing. The chief towns are Puerto Plata on the north coast, St Domingo and Azua on the south, and the great port of Samana Bay on the east. Ireland, less than St Domingo, has sustained nine millions. It is asserted that St Domingo can sustain fifteen millions.

The ubiquity of journalism as regards persons and events would not impress outsiders so favorably if they could get a peep behind the scenes where the mystic guild is daily engaged in catering to the public taste. The recent deaths of so many distinguished men in England and this country have greatly excited the rivalry of competing journals. In reference to the death of Lord Derby an amusing story is told at the expense of the London Star. That paper paid a high price for an obituary notice of the Premier, and having waited two years rather than lose the work, and being about to die itself, published the article fourteen days before the death of its subject. But a still better story is told of a gay and fast former attache of the New York Herald, who was a graduate of Union College, New York. In 1861 he wrote a long and elaborate sketch of Rev. Dr. Nott, the venerable president of that institution, for which the managing editor of the N. Y. Herald gave him a hundred dollars down and contracted to give him another hundred when the subject of the ante mortem article should depart this life. Dr. Nott did not die until Jan 29, 1866. During this interval of five years between the writing of his eulogistic obituary by his former pupil and the Doctor's death, the writer, like most reporters, became quite 'hard up,' and was wont to remark that "Old Nott clung to life with remarkable tenacity. He told me when he gave me the facts contained in my sketch of his life and character that he would not live a year, which is the only lie I ever knew him to tell; but such is my luck, you know!"

POLITICAL

A bill is before the Alabama Legislature to make grand jurymen swear that they have never belonged to the Ku Klux Klan.

Emerson Etheridge says there has been no proposition before the Tennessee Legislature touching the rights or interests of the colored men in any way, and moreover he feels assured no action prejudicial to their rights will be had.

We have at last the full official returns of the Maine election. The vote for Governor was: For Austin, Republican, 27,520; for Otis, Democrat, [illegible]; for Hichborn, Temperance, 1,[illegible]; Anti-[illegible], [illegible]. The majority for the rest of the Republican State ticket is 6,076.

It is stated that Andy Johnson, after his defeat for the United States Senate, sent a friend to Knoxville to inquire about Brownlow's health, with a view of ascertaining what the chances might be for getting into the Parson's seat; but the agent who was sent on this agreeable mission was not able to obtain satisfactory information.

Jesse D. Bright, who is in Washington, feels sure of the country's speedy redemption from Radical tyranny, and as the best means of accomplishing it favors a strict adherence to the principles of the State Rights Democratic Party. He held the same opinion early in 1861, when he was expelled from the United States Senate for disloyalty.

Thomas B. Bryan, who has been awarded the certificate of election as delegate from Du Page county to the Illinois Constitutional Convention, has refused to accept it, saying his opponent was fairly elected, and that the informalities which led to the rejection of a number of votes for that gentleman do not alter the fact that he was really the choice of a majority of the people.

The Richardson Tragedy

The following remarks from the Boston Advertiser on the Richardson tragedy seem to us to be so judicious and just that we present them without other observation than to say that, though Richardson was the victim of a cowardly assassination which can be recompensed only by the enforcement of the full penalty of the law, yet to censure the crime of the murder it is not necessary to gloss over Richardson's conduct.

The death of Mr. Richardson will cause many to look with charity upon an act for which their reason affords no justification. He was murdered, and in the presence of such a sacrifice sympathy throws its protecting mantle over the whole life. If it were not for the wrong done to virtue and the confusion into which all moral obligations are thrown, it would be well to let the matter rest. But the act which led to this dreadful tragedy was not a commendable one, however sentiment and chivalry may for the moment glorify it. It was an act which, when committed under ordinary circumstances, the universal opinion of mankind condemns. He encouraged the estrangement of the wife from her husband, he encouraged the project of marriage when neither he nor the woman he loved had a right to think of marriage, he consented to the ruin of a household which he had entered as a friend. That was a crime. The faults of the husband and the misfortunes of the wife, take from it many of its revolting features, but it was a crime none the less. Who is he that judges another? What protection is there for any family, if one who is better than the rest of us may enter it at his pleasure, and take from it the last and best hope it possesses? We cannot say what may come under the new social code which we are sometimes promised, but there is nothing in the present one to justify the act over which Mr. Beecher, Mr. Frothingham and Dr. Field threw the shield of their reputations, and the sanction of their religion.

Letters from Ex President Van Buren, also from his physician, expressed much gratification with the result of taking Whitcomb's Asthma Remedy. Sold by all druggists.

New Illustrated Work on California
THE CALIFORNIA SCRAP BOOK!

A REPOSITORY OF USEFUL INFORMATION AND select reading, comprising choice selections of Prose and Poetry, Tales, Incidents and Anecdotes, both Historical, Descriptive, Humorous and Sentimental.

The compiler in arranging and combining material has presented the whole in an interesting and attractive style. The brevity and variety of topics render the work particularly entertaining. In this work will be found facts and incidents on the Lives of the Pioneers and of the history of the State that make its pages glow with the fascinations of a romance.

We confidently anticipate for this book a larger sale than any work that has been circulated upon this Coast for many years.

It is one large octavo volume of upwards of 700 pages, printed on elegant paper, handsome type, with numerous spirited engravings, illustrated Scenery, Character, etc.

It is sold only through canvassing agents, and those wishing territory to canvass should immediately apply in person or by letter to the undersigned.

We have also just secured the General Agency for the Pacific Coast for the Celebrated Morse's Fountain Pens. An Excellent article for agents.

PUGET SOUND HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.—We have a small pamphlet issued by the Puget Sound Association containing the company's prospectus, articles of incorporation constitution and schedule of lands. From the prospectus we learn that the Association has secured 1,500 acres of land at the four principal points on Puget Sound—Olympia, Nisqually, Seattle—embracing valuable farming and other tracts, and coal mines. These possess unrivalled harbors, and great natural resources independent of the lines of railroad termini and the lands in the vicinity must inevitably become higher in the near future than now. In relation to the advantages offered by the Association, we quote from the prospectus:

The land has been secured at its present market value. None of it can possibly depreciate, but it must increase with the growth of the country. No matter where the railroad or termini are located the Association will have large tracts of land adjacent which must increase an hundred or even a thousand fold.

The shares are so low, $100 and payable in such small installments, $5 each, as to place them within the reach of every one.

Each share represents ten acres of land within a city.

Except to the limited amount of $25 per share, which can only be called for to defray a total necessary expense, and not more than two dollars during any one month is payable forever.

The Association is regularly incorporated and cannot by any possibility become a monopoly or fall into the hands of speculators as no person is allowed to own more than six shares and each shareholder has an equal right in the administration of its affairs.

Mr P. W. Gillette will act as Secretary of the Association until its organization is completed and an election of officers can be held. The books are in his charge and are open for subscriptions in the OREGONIAN office No. [illegible] Washington street, Portland.

LETTER FROM THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Mr W. H. [illegible] and family, of Astoria, well known to this city, recently [illegible] to the Eastern States. The letter from which the following extracts are taken, was written on Dec. 4th, while the railroad train was moving over the Humboldt plains:

We are now on the railroad, [illegible] 284 miles from [illegible], [illegible] feet above the level of the sea, and moving at the rate of thirty miles per hour. * * * We are passing through the Humboldt prairies in a [illegible]. This plain is from two to ten miles wide, and eighty miles to Winnemucca, a watering station. This valley is dry and sandy and sparsely covered with bunch grass and small sage brush, no timber except on the mountains; little or no snow on the tops. [illegible] we ran down the Humboldt Valley to a point where the mountains close in on the valley; at that point the valley widens. Several valleys come in on either side, as we pass on to the north. The country almost a dead level all through what is called the Big Bend of the Humboldt, to Argenta, seventy [illegible] Winnemucca, a dining station. We make the Humboldt Valley 161 miles, to the bridge on Mary's river. At this point we enter the hills and around the [illegible], 445 miles from Sacramento. This place is a depot for the Company, and houses for cars and engines. Continue up the valley, we open the ranges of mountains to the south east, no snow in the valley. To Elko for supper, 468 miles from Sacramento, [illegible] feet above the level of the sea; cold and freezing. [illegible] this at Promontory, where we change cars. * * We expect to reach Omaha on Wednesday. [Dec. 8th.]

[illegible]—From the Statesman of yesterday. In conversation with Judge Hewitt of Yamhill county yesterday [illegible] that the supply of apples this season [illegible] to run short. Farmers made no effort to [illegible] their apples earlier than usual, while the fruit [illegible] before the regular time, and are decaying [illegible] ahead of the usual season.

[illegible] Esq., of Portland, last evening brought [illegible] Engle, lately of this place, arrested at Portland on a charge of larceny committed here. We learn [illegible] is accused of stealing a coat from a [illegible] in this place.

[illegible] term of the Wallamet University closed yesterday, the week having been devoted to examining the [illegible] with a very satisfactory result. As we remarked [illegible], the school has numbered over 200 pupils, and we are pleased to learn that an even larger number [illegible] to be in attendance during the [illegible] commences on the 3d of January. Prof [illegible] engaged as teacher of vocal music, [illegible] teacher on the piano. The musical department [illegible] as could be desired.

[illegible]—Mr J. B. Underwood, [illegible] Agent, arrived here from Olympia Thursday [illegible] been over the route consulting that [illegible] informs us that owing to the [illegible] bad condition of the roads, and to promote [illegible] of the service, he has temporarily changed [illegible] of arrivals and departures. The mails will leave Portland at 8 o'clock A. M. on Mondays, [illegible] and Fridays, and will arrive at Olympia about 2 P. M. on the following Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays. The mails coming this way depart and arrive on alternate days at the same [illegible]. Heretofore the mail of Monday has been required [illegible] at Olympia by Wednesday morning. Its arrival [illegible] been so late that if a correspondent at [illegible] to answer a letter, he could not get to [illegible] Wednesday morning, but had to wait. By the present schedule he will get his letters [illegible] Wednesday and may reply by Thursday's [illegible] will be seen the efficiency of the service is not [illegible].

[illegible] The Advocate gives an account of the [illegible] at the M. E. Chapel last Tuesday. [illegible] of "Pastoral Visitation" was dispensed by [illegible] and Flynn. The Advocate says [illegible] meetings are manifestly growing in interest and [illegible] will be held on Tuesday next at 1 P. [illegible] "In what respect, and to what [illegible] expect to be led by the Holy [illegible]."

[illegible] informs us that the Sabbath school and [illegible] Chapel, on Columbia Slough, are [illegible] for a pleasant Sabbath school sociable [illegible] on Christmas Eve.

[illegible] Street M. E. Sabbath-school will hold a [illegible] on Friday evening next. Tickets of [illegible] will be issued to the children at the school to-[illegible] Tree will be ready for the children. [illegible] Hall Street M. E. Sunday school on Saturday [illegible] inst.

[illegible] From the Register of yesterday:

[illegible] Court will be in session next Monday, and [illegible] four weeks or more.

[illegible] been a Vancouver Glee Club formed. They [illegible] concerts during the winter.

[illegible] brought in on Thursday eighteen pipes [illegible] from fine potter's clay, a large [illegible] of which he has found on Lewis river about [illegible] from Vancouver.

[illegible] over a hundred soldiers counting those in [illegible]. The Band is the 1st Cavalry Band. There [illegible] officers and one warrant officer [illegible] are employed.

[illegible] authorized by the Superintendent of the [illegible] require of the leading business men of [illegible] which telegraphing each will insure. It [illegible] whether to continue the telegraph line [illegible] to Vancouver or not.

[illegible] ASSOCIATION.—Prof Clark Smith communicates the following: "The next session of the State [illegible] Association is to be held in the City of Portland [illegible] the [illegible] holidays. The session promises much interest. The friends of education and all the teachers of the State should be present. [illegible] will consist of addresses, lectures, essays, [illegible] Among others the following named [illegible] to present addresses on the subjects: Rev. H. K. Hines, Educations of Contact; [illegible] Lyman, of the Pacific University (subject [illegible]); Prof. A. J. Anderson, of the Pacific University, [illegible] Schools; Prof C. Smith, of Vancouver, [illegible] Geology; Prof C. H. Mattoon [illegible]. The addresses in the evenings will be [illegible] for evening audiences and will doubt [illegible]."

[illegible] Brown Cot on the Hill
[illegible] Band Gallop.

[illegible] BED SPRINGS.—The natural love of ease to [illegible] is given, has turned inventive genius to [illegible] the best possible style of bed spring. According [illegible] inventions and contrivances are almost as numerous as [illegible], too numerous to mention. Among [illegible]—considering ease, health and cheapness—we have ever seen is a new patent spring [illegible], by a Mr Campbell, at his shop near the [illegible] of A and First streets, in this city. Those [illegible] them prefer them to all others for ease [illegible].

[illegible] STORE.—We are requested to call the attention of our readers and especially the ladies to the [illegible] of Messrs. Jaeger & Co., who have just [illegible] a splendid lot of silk and worsted embroideries of [illegible] beautiful designs, embroidery patterns [illegible] and all kinds of fancy needle work materials. [illegible] & Co. import direct from Berlin and have nothing [illegible] the best articles at No. 93 First street.

[illegible]—There is but one jury case remaining [illegible] the Circuit Court docket—State vs John Leonard. A [illegible] will probably be taken in a day or two.

[illegible] and laying of ties on the northern extension of the railroad at East Portland is nearly done already. [illegible] sale of real estate at auction by Mr. A. B. [illegible] at 10 o'clock this morning, at his sales-room. [illegible] Ajax will sail for San Francisco at [illegible] afternoon.

[illegible] THE MURDER.—A few days ago we mentioned [illegible] were on a new track for the murderers of [illegible]. Yesterday afternoon Mr H. Miles of [illegible], arrived here, having in charge a man [illegible] Waddell, whom he had arrested a few miles [illegible] Oregon City, on suspicion of being one of the real [illegible]. The prisoner was lodged in the county jail [illegible], and will be taken to Washington Terri[illegible]

ARRIVAL OF THE TELFAIR.—The steamship Gussie Telfair arrived yesterday morning from Victoria. She brings the following named passengers: J Chadwick, T Baxter, E Rossa, A S Pease, H Walker, A A Tufts, Mrs A Bichter, Henry Pyellmie, Mrs A R Porrie, Mrs D C J Trenchard and 3 children, A Insley and son, T Meldrum, O P Heilborn, F Kolan, Robert Ward, K Turnbull, W Turner, Master C J Trenchard, Geo Trenchard.

GONE TO EUROPE.—Among the passengers to go by the steamer this afternoon is Mr [illegible], an old resident and merchant of this city, who is going to Germany, Paris and [illegible] to purchase [illegible] a large and varied stock of crockery, glass and [illegible] wares. He expects to return in about three months [illegible] the best as well as the largest [illegible] ever offered in Portland stores.

IMPORT STATEMENT.—The statement of [illegible] Walker, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1869, shows the aggregate value of foreign goods imported into the Oregon Customs district during the year to have been $3, 806. The aggregate value imported into the Puget Sound district for the same time was $ [illegible]. These were [illegible] customs duties paid.

MEETING OF SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN.—The children of the M. E. Sunday School are requested to meet at the [illegible] this afternoon. The teachers are also requested to meet at the same place at [illegible] o'clock this evening to consider the report of the [illegible] institution and by-laws.

CHANGE IN STEAMER TIME.—Owing to a change in the mail schedule on the route between Portland and Olympia, the steamer [illegible] will hereafter leave this city at 8 o'clock [illegible] morning. She heretofore left at 5 o'clock.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Dr. [illegible] will deliver a [illegible] lecture on [illegible] at the M. E. Church at East Portland Sunday evening, commencing at [illegible] o'clock. He will treat of the subject from a scientific stand point.

CHRISTMAS TREES.—We notice that very general preparations are being made for Christmas trees. The young folks as well as many children of an older growth are bound to have a good time.

CHRISTMAS AT ST. HELENS.—The people of St. Helens we learn are to have a general Christmas celebration at [illegible]. Dr. McBride will deliver an address and Major Adams of the Register a poem.

ADMITTED.—Messrs. W. W. Thayer and D. Freidenrich [illegible] members of the bar in this city were admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of Washington Territory last Monday.

THE HOP AT THE EXCHANGE.—The social dance given last evening by mine host of the Exchange was numerously attended and was altogether a very pleasant affair.

FURS AND HOLIDAY GOODS.—Special attention is called to advertisements of M. Moskowitz of Furs, etc. In looking for holiday presents give him a call.

FOR VICTORIA.—The steamship Gussie Telfair will sail for Victoria and Puget Sound ports next Tuesday at 4 o'clock P. M.

OFF THE BAR.—When the Telfair came in two vessels supposed to be the Whistler and North Star were seen off the bar.

SOIREE.—The Washington Guard's regular semi-monthly soiree will take place at their Armory this evening.

BOYS CLOTHING.—Another addition to the already large stock of Boys' Clothing was received by Kohn & Fishel. They are really handsome and all custom made. There is nothing more appropriate or more serviceable for a Christmas gift to a boy, than one of those handsome suits. Kohn & Fishel's stock of clothing cannot be surpassed. An examination of their stock will convince all that their stock is the best and at the lowest prices.

MEUSSDORFFER BROS. will keep their store open every evening until New Year till 9 o'clock except Saturday when they will close at 10 o'clock. After the 1st day of January they will close their store as usual at 8 o'clock in the evening.

B. L. STONE is constantly selling elegant Christmas presents to everybody that wishes to purchase, and still has plenty left. It is only a week until old Santa Claus will be around again. He only needs a hint and will call at Stone's and fill his pockets.

OPEN IN THE EVENING.—Jackson Sanderson & Co. will keep their store open until 9 o'clock in the evening until after the Holidays.

The largest and finest lot of Ladies, Mink Collars, Muffs, Victorines, also Children's Fur Sets, to be sold before the Holidays, at reduced prices, at the New York Store of M. Moskowitz, 135 Front street.

THE VANDERBILT STATUE, which cost $800,000, has been unveiled in presence of an audience of one hundred thousand persons and Barman Bros have opened their new stock of goods at the Odd Fellows' Temple in the presence of an innumerable throng of Webfeet.

IMPORTANT NEWS.—To gentlemen who are married, those who are going to be or those who would like to be: If you want to get a fine Suit of Clothing for the Holidays or to get married in, you can find them at very low rates by calling at Beck & Waldman's, corner Front and Washington streets, Portland Oregon.

RELIGIOUS ADVERTISING.—A French contemporary gives the following as an accurate account of American religious customs:

A traveler (says the imaginative writer,) who dwelt for some time in a city in South Carolina, related to me the following incident. The city in question had the good luck to possess two reverend clergymen, who had arrayed creed against creed, and waged a fierce warfare in their efforts to draw to their ministrations a throng of the faithful. One adopted the plan of sending a band of twenty musicians through the streets with a man at their head bearing a banner on which was inscribed, in letters of gold, "At noon a great Sermon on Eternity, by the Rev Dr Whitebread, at the Free Chapel, No 55 Fifth avenue!" The idea was triumphant, and succeeded beyond expectation. A dense crowd gathered at the Fifth avenue chapel to receive the words of truth falling from the lips of the Reverend Whitebread. On that day, his adversary preached to empty pews, but his fertile imagination soon suggested an admirable counter-stroke, and he announced through the press that, on the following Sunday, every person who should be present to hear the sermon of the Rev Mr Blackwater should receive, as a gift, a superbly-bound copy of the Bible. In his turn, he saw crowds rush to his free chapel and he punctually redeemed his pledge. Fifteen hundred Bibles were distributed according to promise. But one circumstance slightly affected the value of the gift. The reverend gentleman had made an arrangement with a publisher by which every alternate leaf of the Bible was covered with advertisements, the profits from which were shared between the preacher and the publisher! I will, however, do the Reverend Blackwater the justice to state that he did not carry his speculation as far as he might have done, for he refused a liberal offer from an advertising agent to cover the panels of his pulpit with advertisements!

In an article on resumption the Chicago Tribune says: The moment gold touches par the two hundred millions and more of coin now lying in dead hoards in the Government Treasury, in banking offices, timidly hid away in dark vaults and skeptical stockings will be unlocked as if by some magic key and will return again to circulation. The depreciation in paper instead of making our currency abundant locks up two hundred millions of the soundest and best portion of it—the only portion worth its face—and excludes it from the channels of commerce. What would be the effect if this were added to the volume of our medium of exchange?

On Sea and Land the Great Restorative

As a remedy for the sea sickness which besets the voyager on his way to and from California, and for the disorders which assail the unacclimated emigrant in the unhealthy districts of the Interior, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will be found equally efficacious. On no part of the continent has the value of this pure vegetable elixir as a specific for epidemic diseases been so clearly demonstrated as in the new States and Territories lying contiguous to the Pacific ocean. As a means of preventing the distressing and dangerous attacks of fever and the dysenteric and diarrheal complaints which are engendered by poison in the air or by the use of water containing a mineral or vegetable taint inimical to health, it is confessedly superior to any other tonic and alterative in the world. It acts as a preventive agent by strengthening and exhilarating the whole physical organization and producing a regular habit of body. All that the human system requires, to enable it to resist the deleterious effects of Malaria is increased vigor and vital activity and these are the inevitable results of a course of this celebrated tonic and corrective. It promotes appetite, facilitates digestion, controls the liver, regulates and braces the nerves, superinduces sound and wholesome sleep, invigorates without exciting the pulse, and imparts buoyancy to the animal spirits. The body and mind toned and cheered by its gentle operation are in a condition to repel all exterior influences which tend to produce disease. Flux, dysentery, bilious remittents, chills and fever, rheumatism, &c. are almost always caused by atmospheric poison acting upon an unfortified system. Brace up the organism and cheer the spirits with this wholesome medicated stimulant and then neither the malaria generated by the filth of crowded cities, nor the exhalation of new soils, nor the rapid water of a springless region will be likely to produce any serious consequences.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP. It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbitt & McCleay, R. G. Sneath and all retailers.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND Dec 17 1869

The last public quotation of gold at New York was 12[illegible] [illegible] There are [illegible] or private dispatches of a later date giving the quotation as low as 12.

Legal Tender rates are 81 buying and 82 selling

Bank rates for 30 and 90 day loans 1 per cent Outside rates 1½ and 2 per cent Supply of money rather scant though there is no particular embarrassment [illegible] direction

The latest market quotations from San Francisco are Flour $4 37½ to $5@5 50 Wheat $1 [illegible]@1 60 per cental Oats, $1 20@1 45

The Liverpool and New York quotations for wheat and flour are unchanged—the former at [illegible] the latter [illegible] $5 50@9 50

Of late, jobbers in this city have been filling considerable orders for flour for Walla Walla and the upper Columbia river—a trade which for two or three years we have not had Returns on these shipments have materially assisted the money market

Produce is not yet coming down in sufficient quantities to enable the steamers and vessels plying here to load readily, hence jobbers in this line find business dull The steamship Ajax to sail to-morrow is likely to go away with only a part cargo. The steamer freight for flour is $5, per ton The bark Almatia is laid on for a produce freight, offering to carry for $4 per ton Last year, the same vessel loaded here readily at $3 per ton The difference in prices and the greater difficulty of obtaining cargoes, are attributable altogether to the scarcity of produce on hand. This condition of things must continue until the river steamers shall greatly augment the supplies at our warehouses. Our best brands of flour are in moderate demand at San Francisco at the highest market rates, for family and bakers use Exports from this port are mostly of [illegible] grades, which are in most part supplied by the [illegible] mills; hence, the demand for Oregon is not urgent.

The firm of Baker & Co., of this city, has recently received a letter from a New York house, representing that a limited supply of Oregon extras is much wanted for family and fancy baker's use; and making inquiry as to the [illegible] at which B. & Co will place a given quantity on board steamer at San Francisco Our firm has on the way two or three shipments to New York from which they will wait to hear before making arrangements for farther shipments. There is no news from New York of any change in the market, though the advices are that Oregon extras, if in the market, would go at the top figure.

We [illegible] a reduction in the prices of bacon all round Lard is also lower. The supplies of both are full, with but limited demand.

The [illegible] Puget Sound still keeps well up, and it has much to do with the better business done this year [illegible] former years. The Puget Sound merchants find it [illegible] to buy here rather than at San Francisco [illegible] of the [illegible] receipt of goods.

Our jobbers [illegible] are filling more than the usual number of orders for Eastern Oregon, also and altogether trade has kept up better than had been expected. We note a fair business done during the week in hardware, groceries and dry goods

Our wholesale jobbers in dry goods inform us that if gold continues to go down or if it shall remain as low as now till spring, the [illegible] merchants may look for an advance of at least ten per cent in all dry goods staples Stocks on hand, purchased while gold was higher, will not be [illegible]. It will thus be seen that it will be to the interest of [illegible] merchants to buy as largely as [illegible] of the present stocks.

[illegible] of produce in our warehouses, in consequence of low water during the summer and fall, suggests the necessity of doing something to improve the navigation of our streams. The P T. Co. have long [illegible] Spring upon the improvement of the Willamette [illegible] can ply without [illegible] throughout the entire [illegible] which are greatly needed in the [illegible] same which drain very [illegible] We hear that the same [illegible] Yamhill, by constructing [illegible] placing a small steamer in [illegible] we quote the following from the [illegible] of the 14th: "No improvement, requiring the [illegible] of the same amount [illegible] would be of so much value to the people of [illegible] the construction of locks on the Yamhill [illegible] The [illegible] of the [illegible] of no [illegible] locks having capacity to raise, each, twelve feet [illegible] would render the river navigable [illegible] to this place, and perhaps farther, during the whole year. The banks of the river are high, and no [illegible] or dredging would be necessary. The cost of constructing suitable locks is [illegible] compared with the value of the work when completed.

According to figures, which can be produced, more [illegible] Yamhill [illegible] than is [illegible] and all intermediate points between that place and Oregon City during the same period The [illegible] amount of freight at the lowest [illegible] rates would pay a handsome per cent. on the [illegible] the improvement

In addition to this, the [illegible] which is now being [illegible] from near the mouth of Willamina to this place, would make a line of navigation of fifty miles in length, the whole distance through the richest agricultural district [illegible] for navigation by [illegible] of fifty tons burthen, and facilities for [illegible] at this place, could be constructed at a very [illegible] so that freight could be passed into river boats as conveniently as from the best arranged warehouse."

INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS AND POSTMASTERS.

Containing also conditions to be incorporated in the contracts to the extent the Department may deem proper.

1 Seven minutes are allowed to each intermediate office, when not otherwise specified, for assorting the mails but on railroad and steamboat routes there is to be no more delay than is sufficient for an exchange of the mail pouches

2 On railroad and steamboat lines and other routes where the mode of conveyance admits of it, the special agents of the Post Office Department, also post office blanks mail bags locks and keys are to be conveyed without extra charge

3 On railroad and steamboat lines the route agents of the Department, also the British and [illegible] when offered, and the [illegible] are conveyed without charge; and for the use of the United States agents a commodious car, or part of a car properly lighted, warmed, and furnished and adapted to the convenient separation and due [illegible] is to be provided by the contractor under the direction of the Department

Railroad and steamboat companies are required to take the mail from, and deliver it into, the postoffices at the beginning and end of their routes and to and from all offices not more than eighty rods from a station or landing. Proposals may be submitted by the companies for the performance of all other side service that is, for offices over eighty rods from a station or landing

There will be [illegible] prepared by postmasters or other agents of the Department to [illegible] mails conveyed on railroads and steamers, specifying the number and destination of the several bags. On other principal routes, likewise, receipts will be required and way bills forwarded; the latter to be examined by the several postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mails.

4 No pay will be made for trips not performed and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained, three times the pay of the trip will be [illegible] For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. For repeated delinquencies of the kind herein specified, enlarged penalties, proportioned to the nature thereof, and the importance of the mail, may be made.

5 For leaving behind or throwing off the mails or any portion of them, for the admission of passengers, or for being concerned in setting up or running an express conveying intelligence in advance of the mail, a quarter's pay may be deducted

6 Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of postmasters or the affidavits of other credible persons, for failing to arrive in contract time; for neglecting to take the mail from, or deliver it into a post office, for suffering it to be wet injured destroyed robbed or lost; and for refusing after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running, a coach, car, or steamboat on a route.

7 The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures to run agreeably to contract; for violating the post office laws or disobeying the instructions of the Department, for refusing to discharge a carrier when required by the Department to do so for running an express as aforesaid, or for transporting persons or packages conveying mailable matter out of the mail.

8 The Postmaster General may order an increase of service on a route by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay He may change schedules of departures and arrivals in all cases, and particularly to make them conform to connections with railroads, without increase of pay provided the running time be not abridged The Postmaster General may also discontinue or curtail the service in whole or in part in order to place on the route a superior service, or whenever the public interests in his judgment shall require such discontinuance curtailment or for any other causes he allowing as full indemnity to contractor one month's extra pay on the amount of service dispensed with and a pro rata compensation for the amount of service retained and continued

9 Payments will be made by collections from or drafts on postmasters or otherwise after the expiration of each quarter—say in November, February May and August.

10 The distances are given according to the best information but no increased pay will be allowed should they be greater than advertised if the points to be supplied are correctly stated Bidders must inform themselves on this point and also in reference to the weight of the mail the condition of the roads hills streams &c and all toll bridges ferries or obstructions of any kind by which expense may be incurred No claim for additional pay based on such ground can be considered nor for alleged mistakes or misapprehension as to the degree of service; nor for bridges destroyed, ferries discontinued or other obstructions [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] after [illegible] issued [illegible] contract term [illegible] extra pay if the distance be not increased

11 Bidders are cautioned to mail their proposals in time to reach the Department by the day and hour named (3 p [illegible] March 1 [illegible]) for bids received after that time will not be considered [illegible] Neither can bids be [illegible] by law and sufficiency of such guarantee
